

Global Voices: Celebrating International Development Week 2008

Why are you hungry for change?

World Vision

The first Millennium Development Goal is to eradicate extreme poverty and hunger, yet a child still dies every three seconds because of extreme poverty. Canada can contribute to the reduction of poverty, the spread of HIV and AIDS, and the improvement of the lives of war-affected children by giving more and better aid.

The World Vision Get Hungry Photo Challenge gives youth the chance to speak out and challenge our leaders to make it happen. By creating a photo-message expressing why you are hungry for change and uploading it to World Vision's website, you'll be telling our leaders and the world why you're hungry for change. They'll take your messages to Ottawa and make sure they get heard.
